ABOUT ENGAGE & GROW

Engage & Grow believes that healthy businesses are multi-faceted living forces that embody corporate values, and that can enhance the human experience. Employee engagement is not an issue that should only be discussed at the business level or, it is not just a matter of some ratios and concerns only the business and the manager. If we define employee engagement in its simplest definition as willing participation in work, it is about how willingly you participate in life, work and relationships.
